SYNOPSIS: Investigation was predicated upon request from the USDOJ to enter captioned investigation, being conducted by the U.S. Park Police (USPP), and to focus FBI efforts on the turning over of a note found in the office of Vincent W. Foster. Foster was Deputy White House Counsel to the President, whose body was found on the evening of 7/20/93 at Fort Marcy, Virginia, which is U.S. park land. The USPP investigation to date indicates death was by suicide. On 7/22/93, Foster's office was searched by

[redacted] to the President. b7C
The search was observed by DOJ, FBI, U.S. Secret Service (USSS) and USPP personnel as agreed by DOJ officials. On 7/26/93, during an inventory of Foster's office, a briefcase, previously searched on 7/22/92, was found to contain 27 torn pieces of yellow paper. The papers were found by [redacted] [redacted] who was acting on [redacted] orders to inventory the office, segregate Foster's personal affects and pack them up for his family. The 27 pieces of paper, found at approximately 4:00 p.m., 7/26/93, were pieced together and determined to be a listing, in Foster's handwriting, of problems he had recently encountered in his job. The note was not turned over to law enforcement officials until 9:15 p.m., 7/27/93, approximately 30 hours after being found. All of those interviewed and who had knowledge of this 30-hour delay were consistent with regard to the delay. Each stated the note was not immediately turned over due to a need to advise the family prior to its release and the need for it to be shown to the President, ensuring his right to Executive Privilege was protected as it related to the contents of the note. The family could not be contacted until 3:00 p.m., 7/27/93, and the President was not available until 6:00 p.m., 7/27/93. There was not, according to all interviewed, any attempt or discussion regarding not providing the note to law enforcement investigators. Interviews were conducted of each individual present during the original 7/22/93 search of Foster's office. Each advised they had not seen the 27 pieces of torn paper despite the briefcase having been searched by [redacted]. All individuals known to have access to Foster's office prior to its being sealed on 7/21/93 were interviewed and admitted being in the office, but stated they had not seen the 27 pieces of paper nor had they removed anything from the office. FBI laboratory examination of the note was essentially negative. U.S. Capitol Police (USCP) laboratory examination of the note, as requested by USPP, confirmed the note had been written by Foster. Additional interviews of individuals alleged to have made comments or heard comments about the existence of a Foster suicide note were interviewed with negative results.

Preliminary Inquiry;
OO: WMFO

DETAILS: On 7/20/93, Vincent Foster, Jr., former Deputy Chief Counsel to President William Clinton, was found dead at Fort Marcy, which is on U.S. park land located on the George Washington Parkway in Virginia. Investigation of Foster's death by the USPP preliminarily indicates Foster committed suicide. On 7/22/93, an official search of Foster's White House office was conducted under the direction and control of [redacted]

[redacted] Pertinent documents relating to Foster's death were turned over by [redacted] to USPP investigators. This search was conducted in the presence of DOJ attorneys David Margolis and Roger Adams; USSS Special Agents [redacted] USPP Captain [redacted] and Detective [redacted] FBI Special Agents [redacted] and [redacted] and [redacted] assistants, [redacted]

b7C

On 7/26/93, [redacted] an assistant to [redacted] was instructed by [redacted] to conduct a final inventory of Foster's office and pack and turn over to Foster's family all personal items found in his White House office. At approximately 4:00 p.m., 7/27/93, [redacted] found 27 pieces of torn paper located in a briefcase in Foster's office. The briefcase had been searched by [redacted] on 7/22/93 and allegedly all items had been removed and nothing pertinent to the death investigation was found. The torn papers found by [redacted] were turned over to [redacted] and were pieced together by [redacted] When put together, the papers revealed a list of information relating to Foster's recent job-related problems. The writing on the note was recognized by [redacted] as being Foster's. It wasn't until 9:15 p.m., 7/27/93 (30 hours after it was found), that the torn note was turned over to USPP investigators.

b7C

Based on the above facts, Deputy Attorney General Phillip B. Heymann requested the FBI conduct an independent investigation to determine the facts relating specifically to the delay in turning over the above-described torn note to USPP investigators.

OO: WMFO

On 7/29/93, investigation commenced and is set forth in attached Investigative Summary Report, dated 8/6/93. During the course of this investigation, the following individuals were interviewed with regard to the handling of the above-described torn note:

1. [redacted] to the President b7C
2. [redacted] to the President
3. [redacted] to the President
4. [redacted]
5. [redacted]
6. [redacted]

All of these individuals confirmed that the torn note was found by [redacted] in Foster's office in a briefcase which had previously been searched on 7/22/93. Further, each of the above individuals, during interview, advised that during telephone conversations and meetings held on 7/26/93 and 7/27/93, there was never any conversation regarding not turning the note over to law enforcement officials. Each individual advised that the delay was caused by the opinion of each of these individuals that prior to turning the note over, Foster's family and President Clinton should be advised as to the contents of the note and the fact it was to be released to investigators. Each of the above individuals stated that they believed the President had to be advised of the contents of the note to ensure that he was satisfied that there was nothing contained in the note which should not be released as a result of Presidential Executive Privilege. Each advised that the President was in Chicago at the time the note was found and was not available to review the note until 6:00 p.m., 7/27/93, the day after the note was found. [redacted] was outside of the Washington, D.C., area and did not return until approximately 3:00 p.m., 7/27/93, which was the earliest possible time [redacted] could have been advised of the contents of the note. Finally, all of the above individuals concurred that immediately after President Clinton saw the note at 6:00 p.m. on 7/27/93, the Attorney General was contacted in order to make arrangements for the note to be turned over to the USPP. All of the above were consistent in their separate interviews as to the facts surrounding the finding of the note and the reasons for the delay in turning over the note.

In addition to the above individuals, the following were interviewed with regard to their participation in the original search of Foster's office on 7/22/93:

1. SA [redacted] FBI
2. David Margolis, USDOJ
3. Roger Adams, USDOJ
4. [redacted] USSS
5. [redacted] USSS
6. SA [redacted] FBI
7. Capt. [redacted] USPP
8. [redacted] USPP

b7C

All of the above confirmed that [redacted] was observed to have removed a stack of documents from a briefcase and to then place against the wall a briefcase that all believed to be empty. None of the above individuals recall being able to actually see into the briefcase when it was opened by [redacted] thereby, not being able to see if anything remained in the briefcase. Investigation confirmed that the briefcase searched by [redacted] on 7/22/93 is the same briefcase in which his assistant, [redacted] found the 27 pieces of torn yellow paper on 7/26/93.

[redacted] advised that on 7/22/93 he could see into the briefcase when [redacted] opened it up and after the removal of the previously described documents, he observed that the only things remaining in the briefcase were a paper clip and what appeared to be a single yellow post-it type piece of paper. During interview, [redacted] indicated that several of the 27 yellow pieces of paper fell out of the briefcase when he placed it on a pile of material on the afternoon of 7/26/93. [redacted] advised that he subsequently opened the briefcase and found the remaining pieces of the torn note in the bottom of the briefcase.

DAG Heymann was interviewed and confirmed that he and Attorney General Reno were called to the White House at approximately 7:00 p.m., 7/27/93. It was at that time he was advised of the 7/26/93 discovery of the note, the previously described reasons it had been maintained by the White House staff, i.e. sensitivity for Foster's family and the need of the President to see it, and the fact that the President wanted the note turned over to the law enforcement investigators.

USPP Investigator [] was interviewed and advised that he was provided the note on 7/27/93 at approximately 9:15 p.m. He copied the contents of the note on two pieces of plain white paper and gave a copy to DAG Heymann who was present in the White House when he, [] arrived. DAG Heymann advised he provided this copy to his assistant, David Margolis, who, in turn, provided it to the FBI. b7C

In addition to the above, [] attorney representing the Foster family, was interviewed. He confirmed the meeting between himself, [] and the White House staff on the afternoon of 7/27/93 as well as the purpose of the meeting as described above. [] stated that during his meeting with White House personnel on 7/27/93, there was never any mention or indication that the note would not be turned over to law enforcement officials; only that such would occur after it was reviewed by the President. [] advised that he would not [] b7C

David Margolis and Roger Adams, DOJ, were interviewed and advised that they were present on 7/22/93 when Foster's office was searched. Margolis advised it had been agreed on 7/21/93 that law enforcement personnel would conduct the search; however, on the afternoon of 7/22/93, [] b7C [] advised the search would be conducted by him while being observed by law enforcement personnel. Both Margolis and Adams recall a briefcase being located, the contents being removed and the case being opened by [] to ensure nothing remained in it. Neither Adams nor Margolis could see into the briefcase.

SAs [redacted] FBI, and [redacted] b7C
USSS, provided statements consistent with that of Margolis and Adams. All advised they could not see into the briefcase when it was opened by [redacted] on 7/22/93.

FBI laboratory examination of the original note was conducted for latent fingerprints, chemical and document analysis with essentially negative results. A smudged unidentifiable palm print was found on the note. USPP investigators had a handwriting analysis of the note completed by the USCP Laboratory, prior to the note being turned over to the FBI, which confirmed, as a result of comparison with known handwriting, that the note was written by Foster.

Investigation revealed that [redacted] of Little Rock, Arkansas, [redacted] when President Clinton was Governor of Arkansas, had indicated that "when the contents of Foster's suicide note is known, perhaps we will know more."
[redacted] reportedly made this statement on 7/21/93, the morning after the death. He was believed to have received this b7C information from some [redacted] [redacted] was interviewed and advised he obtained information regarding a possible suicide note on 7/21/93, the morning after Foster's death, during a telephone conversation with [redacted]

[redacted]

b7C [redacted] were interviewed and advised that information relating to the possible suicide note had been obtained as a result of a discussion viewed on the 7/21/93 edition of NBC's "Today Show." The discussion viewed was between NBC commentator Bryant Gumble and White House Correspondent James Miklaszewski. This edition of "Today" was reviewed and confirmed [redacted] statement. [redacted] advised that they had neither talked to anyone in the White House nor had they obtained any first-hand knowledge regarding a suicide note in the Foster matter.

[redacted] was interviewed. She b7C advised that on 7/26/93, she had assisted [redacted] during the inventory of Foster's office. At one point during the day, she moved the briefcase; however, did not search it. [redacted] does recall seeing something yellow at the bottom of the briefcase, which she believed was a post-it. [redacted] was not present when the note was found and advised she did not remove anything from the office. She could not provide any additional information regarding the note or Foster's death.

A copy of the USPP's death investigation report was obtained and reviewed for additional leads relating to the finding of the torn note. As a result, the following individuals were interviewed:

1. [redacted] to the President
2. [redacted]
3. [redacted]

[redacted] advised that on 7/20/93, at approximately 10:00 p.m., she was called by [redacted] who was at Foster's residence. [redacted] instructed [redacted] to go back to the White House and look around Foster's office to determine if he had left a suicide note. [redacted] advised she looked on top of Foster's desk and in the center draw, locations she believed would have been places where a note would be left. She did not find a note, did not remove anything from the office and remained in the office with [redacted] for about ten minutes.

[redacted] advised she entered Foster's office with [redacted] and sat on the couch, being too distraught to do anything else. [redacted] sat at Foster's desk, according to [redacted]. She advised she took nothing out of the office and had only remained in the office about ten minutes. She did not observe [redacted] take anything out of the office.

[redacted] White House [redacted] was interviewed and advised that on the evening of 7/20/93, he was notified of the death of Foster and was dispatched to Foster's residence. [redacted] remained at the Foster residence throughout the evening, and at some point [redacted] questioned whether or not a suicide note had been found. [redacted] contacted [redacted] and instructed her to proceed to the White House and to determine if a suicide note had been found. He further instructed that [redacted] look in Foster's office for a note. He subsequently received a telephone call from [redacted] advising that she did not find a note, and the next morning, 7/21/93, he was again advised in a conversation with [redacted] that she had not found a note or removed anything from Foster's office.

Investigation determined that USSS [redacted] [redacted] attended a neighborhood party on 8/1/93 and had indicated knowledge of a conversation outside Foster's office on 7/21/93 relating to a suicide note. [redacted] after contact with USSS officials, was interviewed and advised that he had been assigned to replacing locks on Foster's office door in the White House on 7/21/93. During this activity, he was told by a uniformed Secret Service guard, believed to be [redacted] that some FBI Agents had been in the office and had removed some materials. [redacted] indicated that was the reason for the office being so clean. [redacted] had been assigned to guard the entrance to Foster's Office. [redacted] assumed that among the materials removed had been a suicide note. He stated he did not have any other knowledge regarding a suicide note.

b7C

Finally, USSS uniformed personnel [redacted] and [redacted] were interviewed. [redacted] advised that he did not recall having any conversation with [redacted] relating to a suicide note, as he was not posted at Foster's office door when [redacted] was there to change the locks. He advised that [redacted] and he had changed posts and [redacted] was at the door when [redacted] was at Foster's office. [redacted] advised he does not recall any conversation, especially regarding a suicide note, with [redacted]. Neither [redacted] observed anyone remove anything from Foster's office while they were standing guard.

Dear Mr. Margolis:

Reference my telephone conversation with you this date.

On July 30, 1993, [redacted] to President William Clinton, provided a blank pad of yellow paper to Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). The pad of paper was obtained from the desk of Vincent Foster, former Associate Counsel to the President. The blank pad was obtained from [redacted] in order that it could be examined for any indented writing left on the pad by Foster and which could be related to his death on July 20, 1993. b7C

Examination of this pad by the FBI Laboratory did not reveal any indented writing relating to Foster's death. However, indented writing was developed on the pad which may relate to work product of the Office of Counsel to the President and which

Why? A grim President Clinton could not explain yesterday why Mr. Foster would take his life.

Close aide's suicide leaves president, staff puzzled

By Frank J. Murray
and Michael Hedges
THE WASHINGTON TIMES

President Clinton led the White House staff yesterday in mourning Deputy White House Counsel Vincent W. Foster Jr. and broadened an inquiry into why his lifelong friend left work Tuesday to kill himself.

"What happened was a mystery about something inside of him," Mr. Clinton told hundreds of staff members as he sought throughout the day to avoid simplistic diagnoses of Mr. Foster's suicide, apparently without leaving a message.

"In times of difficulty he was normally the Rock of Gibraltar while other people were having trouble," Mr. Clinton said after a brief televised statement in the Rose Garden.

The president recalled there the late-night, 45-minute talk Tuesday among Arkansas friends who gathered to comfort the widowed Lisa Foster and found themselves alternately crying and laughing.

Mr. Clinton visited the Foster family last night for a late dinner at their home in Georgetown.

"It is very wrong to define a life like his in terms only of how it ended," Mr. Clinton said of the superachiever who graduated first in his law school class, got the highest score on his bar exam, and within two years became a partner in Arkansas' most important law firm.

Mr. Foster, Mr. Clinton and Chief of Staff Thomas F. "Mac" McLarty were childhood friends in tiny Hope, Ark.

They will reunite tomorrow in Memory Gardens, Ark., the town of 9,700 where his widowed mother, Alice Mae Foster, resides. An 11 a.m. ecumenical funeral service will be held first at St. Andrew's Catholic Cathedral in Little Rock, Ark.

Friends in government and private life eulogized Mr. Foster's strengths and successes but were unable to explain why he ended his life at age 48 with a wife at home, two children in college and a third entering the senior year in high school.

"He was tough, he was funny, he was conservative, he was cool and he was warm," agreed White House Counsel Bernard Nussbaum, his nominal boss although Mr. Foster at times functioned outside of any known organizational charts.

White House Communications Director Mark Gearan said none of his colleagues knew of depression or other problems that might contribute to a suicide. "There are good days and there are bad days in the White House," he said.

U.S. Park Police said their findings are consistent with suicide and voiced no doubt that he put a .38-caliber revolver in his mouth and shot himself.

Police said the gun was not registered locally. The Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms was tracing its serial number as Mr. Foster's office was sealed. Park Police officials were summoned to the White House and told the Justice Department would "coordinate" further investigation.

No one has accounted for the five hours between the time Mr. Foster ate alone at his White House desk and left at 1 p.m. Tuesday with a promise to return and the discovery of his body about 6 p.m. He report-

Hillary loses longtime friend, investment partner, in suicide

By Michael Hedges
THE WASHINGTON TIMES

Vincent Foster, the deputy White House counsel who committed suicide Tuesday, was more than a friend to the Clintons; he was a longtime business partner of Hillary Rodham Clinton.

In 1983 Mr. Foster, Mrs. Clinton and Webster Hubbell, associate director of the Justice Department and close Clinton adviser, approached a Little Rock, Ark., stockbroker about starting a partnership called Midlife Investments, a partnership that apparently still existed at the time of Mr. Foster's death.

"I was working at E.F. Hutton in Little Rock, and the three of them approached me about setting up a partnership," said Roy Drew, now an investment consultant in Little Rock. "They each put up about $15,000, as I recall," he said.

The Clintons' joint tax returns showed that Mrs. Clinton was a partner in Midlife Investments from 1983 until at least the end of 1991. The address listed for the partnership in the Clinton tax returns was the Rose Law Firm, the influential firm where all three of the partners worked.

The business relationship is one more indication of the special ties among those who worked for the Rose Law Firm, considered the most powerful legal organization in Arkansas and one with complicated business interests.

White House spokesmen had no direct information on the partnership yesterday. "They are in the process of setting up a blind trust. It takes a long while to do it, so it's not accomplished yet. Ricki Seidman is handling the details," Neil Lattimore, deputy press secretary for Mrs. Clinton, said when asked about Mrs. Clinton's financial holdings.

Mr. Lattimore said that her current holdings are unchanged from recent filings, that nothing has been sold or acquired.

Herb Rule, a senior partner at the firm who recruited Mr. Foster to work there in 1970, said he had only recently learned of Midlife Investments, and assumed it was solely a stock-buying partnership.

Mr. Rule said Mr. Foster, Mrs. Clinton and Mr. Hubbell worked closely together at the law firm and were good friends. He said he had not known the group was using the law firm as the mailing address for their partnership but suggested it was done because they spent time in common at the firm.

According to the Clintons' tax returns, a fourth person joined the partnership after it was formed. Tax returns reflected that the partnership never yielded much taxable dividend income for Mrs. Clinton, sometimes under $100 a year and never much more than that.

That surprised Mr. Drew. "They bought lots of shares in several companies — Firestone Tire and Diamond Shamrock are two that I recall," he said.

"The whole thing seemed squally to me from the start. Most people, if they have $15,000 to invest, they go alone, they don't go to two other friends and say, 'Let's get in this together,'" Mr. Drew said.

At the time Mr. Hubbell's appointment was being reviewed by the Senate Judiciary Committee, staff investigators for both Democrats and Republicans called Mr. Drew and inquired about Mr. Hubbell's stock dealings.

Mr. Drew said he told them about the partnership involving Mrs. Clinton and Mr. Foster and was told the committee was interested in that. The committee investigators who talked with Mr. Drew refused to discuss the matter yesterday.

Mr. Drew said that shortly after the Midlife Investment partnership was formed, Mr. Hubbell contacted him about buying stock in a company called Arkla, then selling for about $18 a share.

He said that within days of that purchase in April 1983, Mrs. Clinton called him and asked him how Arkla stock was performing, but made no purchase of it. The value of the Arkla stock rose steadily after the Hubbell purchase to a high of $25.62 a share on June 6, 1983, about a month and a half after Mr. Hubbell bought it, Mr. Drew said.

At that point, he said, Mr. Hubbell sold 300 shares. On July 19, 1983, Mr. Hubbell sold the remaining shares at $24.50. Mr. Hubbell made a $3,500 profit on a $9,100 investment.

Clintons Mystified By Aide's Death

Staff Shaken by Apparent Suicide

By Ruth Marcus and Ann Devroy
Washington Post Staff Writers

President Clinton yesterday gathered a shaken and grieving White House staff trying to make sense of the death of deputy White House counsel Vincent Foster Jr., who police said shot himself in the head Tuesday night in a Virginia park.

Foster, 48, a lifelong friend of the president, left no suicide note or other explanation of his action, authorities said. He was found with a single gunshot wound Tuesday at 6:15 p.m. at Fort Marcy Park in McLean, slumped next to a Civil War-era cannon.

Word of Foster's death sent waves of shock and disbelief not only through the White House but also through Washington and home to Arkansas. Though colleagues and friends spoke of depression and dejection and of a man who let the troubles and problems of the White House weigh too heavily on him, no one entertained the idea that suicide was possible, they said.

Foster, who like Clinton was born in Hope, Ark., was the No. 2 person in the counsel's office, which has been criticized for not properly scrutinizing some of the president's unsuccessful appointments. He also was a key adviser to the health care task force chaired by Hillary Rodham Clinton, who had been one of his partners and friends in the Rose law firm, the influential Little Rock practice that also contributed two other senior lawyers to the administration.

VINCENT FOSTER JR.

The public record of Foster's life, and interviews with friends and associates here and in Arkansas, offered a portrait of a reserved but well-liked high-achiever: graduating first in his law school, gaining the highest score on the state bar exam, making partner at Rose in two years, excelling in legal and civil life, awash in professional and civic awards.

"Vince Foster was probably one of the most brilliant and solid people that I've ever known," said Joe Purvis, a Little Rock lawyer and childhood friend. "Vince Foster was a wonderful man in every way," said

White House Mourns Loss of Deputy Counsel

FOSTER, From A1

Clinton, in a brief public tribute in the Rose Garden. He said he had encouraged the White House staff to "try to remember that work can never be the only thing in life."

Although White House officials said they saw few if any signs of emotional problems from Foster, others who were his friends described themselves as worried over his depression and anxiety. One Washington friend said, "His friends could see his depression and his wife was terribly worried about it. He took everything to heart, too much to heart. He felt responsible for things he should not have felt responsible. He felt these burdens and could not seem to shake them off the way others do."

The friend said that the Fosters and associate attorney general Webster Hubbell and his wife went to the Eastern Shore last weekend for a break from the pressures—Hubbell is another friend from the Rose law firm—and that Foster's family believed it had helped him. "Certainly people who knew him well—he is reserved and hard to know, really—felt he was depressed, but not depressed in the sense of killing himself. I can tell you that thought did not enter people's minds," the friend said.

Clinton addressed the mystery himself. "No one can ever know why this happened," he said. "Even if you had a whole set of objective reasons, that wouldn't be why it happened, because you could get a different, bigger, more burdensome set of objective reasons. . . . So what happened was a mystery about something inside of him."

White House Chief of Staff Thomas F. "Mack" McLarty, who described himself as "heartbroken" at the death of a man who also was his lifelong friend, said, "Try as we might, all of our reason, all of our rationality, all of our logic cannot answer the questions raised by such a death."

From information provided by the White House and the U.S. Park Police, Foster had a typical morning Tuesday and lunch at his desk before leaving his second floor office about 1 p.m. He would not be heard from, by family or staff, again.

Around 6 p.m., Fairfax County rescue workers found the body after responding to an emergency call of trouble at the outpost that overlooks the Potomac River.

Maj. Robert H. Hines, a Park Police spokesman, said Foster, dressed in slacks and a dress shirt but no tie, was carrying no identification when his body was found. Foster's suitcoat, with his wallet and identification, was found later in his car by police searching for clues. The car, with Arkansas license plates, was parked along with several others in the lot of the overlook, which is off the George Washington Memorial Parkway in McLean.

"Some people who commit suicide have a tendency to seek out a nice area of solitude," Park Police Sgt. Gregory Brown said of that area. "It appears he went off and found himself a quiet place and that was it."

Park Police reported that a revolver was found near the body. Law enforcement sources said the Park Police asked the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms to trace two Colt .38s manufactured in 1913, but ATF was unable to do so because of the age of the weapons.

Shortly after 9 p.m., McLarty was notified of the unconfirmed death and by 10 p.m., the death was confirmed. Clinton was told by McLarty just after he finished an appearance on the "Larry King Live" show on CNN, and Clinton and McLarty went quickly to Foster's Georgetown home to comfort his wife, Lisa. Friends described a shocked and grieving group of Arkansans engaging in the same soul-searching over Foster that enveloped the White House yesterday.

The White House announced that the Justice Department would be the "point of contact" for an investigation into Foster's death by the U.S. Park Police.

A search of Foster's White House office is scheduled for today, Justice Department spokesman Dean St. Dennis said. Two senior Justice Department lawyers, David Margolis and Roger Adams, are participating because "there is apparently a great deal in the office on paper and in the computer concerning Foster's privileged communications with the president," St. Dennis said.

Clinton, joined by a contingent of Arkansas friends, will travel to Little Rock Friday for the funeral. Hillary Clinton, who some describe as an even closer friend of Foster than the president, already is in Little Rock.

The president canceled his public events yesterday but said he had kept to his routine of meetings in the White House. "We have to go on—we have the country's business to do," he said. Aides described him as sitting up until almost 2 a.m. wondering what had brought Foster to the edge. "He was perplexed, like everyone," one aide said.

Some staff members, overcome with emotion, described a morning meeting in which Clinton recalled his childhood with Foster in what one called "the most evocative, moving words." The White House later released a transcript in which Clinton called Foster "a perfectly wonderful man on whom I relied and on whom I put a lot for a very long time."

Clinton said that when McLarty informed him of Foster's death, "I just kept thinking in my mind of when we were so young, sitting on the ground in the backyard, throwing knives into the ground and seeing if we were

"Vince Foster was a wonderful man in every way," the president said in a brief Rose Garden tribute to his longtime friend.

admit enough to make them stick." Clinton, McLarty and Foster grew up together in Hope, where Clinton's grandparents' yard abutted the larger yard of the Foster family.

Clinton spoke of Foster being there for him when he began his career in politics, when he ran for Arkansas attorney general and governor. He said when the Rose law firm hired Hillary, "Vince Foster and Webb Hubbell became her closest friends."

Because of his job, Foster had been associated with some of the administration's problems in appointments that had not been thoroughly investigated, and in the travel office affair where he had attended some of the meetings related to it and briefed Hillary Clinton. But he was not criticized in that situation, nor held responsible for some of the problems with appointments.

Yet a friend described him as feeling responsible. "He was a guy whose individual sense of responsibility for things went well beyond what a normal person would do. He brought everything on top of himself and was almost obsessive in wanting everything to be done right and feeling he somehow could have made it right if it wasn't."

Staff writers Dan Balz, Michael Isikoff, Bill Miller and Pierre Thomas contributed to this report.

On of the Golden Boys

Lifelong Friend Had Been Clinton's 'Rock of Gibraltar'

By Ruth Marcus
Washington Post Staff Writer

Tuesday should have been a banner day for Vincent Foster Jr.

The Supreme Court nominee he had labored to select was appearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee on what appeared to be a triumphant march toward confirmation. A new FBI director was announced in a Rose Garden ceremony that Foster attended, where he shook hands with guests and smiled at friends in the crowd.

"We hit two home runs," an ebullient White House counsel Bernard Nussbaum told Foster when the deputy counsel walked into Nussbaum's office shortly after noon.

Foster, in his typical low-key fashion, "just sort of smiled," Nussbaum recalled yesterday. "And I said, 'I'll see you later.' And that's the last time I saw Vince."

Instead of celebrating, Foster ate lunch alone at his desk, left the White House and drove to a Virginia park where police said he shot himself in the head. Yesterday, as they struggled to make sense of what President Clinton described as the "mystery about something inside of him" that drove Foster to take his own life, lifelong friends and new White House colleagues were unanimous in their view that Foster was the last person they would have expected to commit suicide.

"For more years than most of us like to admit, in times of difficulty he was normally the Rock of Gibraltar while other people were having trouble," an ashen-faced Clinton told reporters yesterday. "No one could ever remember the reverse being the case."

Said Little Rock lawyer Joe Purvis, a friend since childhood, "Vince was very much the rule of reason. He was not given to making rash, quick judgments. . . . Vince didn't do wild and crazy things."

On a shelf in his West Wing office, Foster kept a photograph of three children at a birthday party long ago: the president, White House Chief of Staff Thomas F. "Mack" McLarty and Foster. Like his boyhood friends, Foster—a few years older—was one of the golden boys of Hope.

His father was successful in real estate there, and Vincent Jr.—so tall and thin his friends called him "pencil"—was president of his senior class.

He was first in his class at the University of Arkansas Law School. But, as he recalled when he gave the commencement address last year, he skipped his own graduation to save on the gown rental and go straight to his new job in Little Rock. He scored first in the state on the bar exam, made partner at the Rose law firm in a mere two years, became a leader of the bar and an idol to the younger lawyers at the firm.

Foster told a newspaper several years ago that he had "always fantasized going off to the mountains of Colorado and writing a great novel in seclusion," but his real life was that of a successful corporate litigator, with a blue-chip client list and a six-figure income.

"I would call him one of the most compassionate, ethical lawyers I have ever known," said Gloria Cabe, a former top Clinton aide in Arkansas and a friend of Foster's for 15 years. She described him as a man with an old-fashioned, southern lawyer's sense of propriety.

Foster "was a perfectionist and very much a detail man," Purvis said. "Anything Vince would do would be done, and it would be done right."

In Washington, Foster for the first time in his life confronted intense and sustained criticism as the White House in general and the counsel's office in particular endured a series of damaging events—from the difficulties of selecting an attorney general to the controversy over the firing of the White House travel office staff. During his first six weeks on the job, Foster—already a slender man—lost 12 pounds.

"He probably was more sensitive to the criticisms than most," said one close friend. While other Arkansans had had experience in public life, this friend said, "Vince had been the quiet, behind-the-scenes lawyer. . . . I just think that it bothered him. He took things very personally, and probably much more personally than anybody even close to him realized."

In an interview with the Arkansas Democrat-Gazette in April, he said he did not have a full appreciation of the variety of issues that the office would face nor the time demands. "It is more challenging and more exciting than I anticipated."

Like other White House staffers, he complained good-naturedly about the grueling hours that kept him away from his wife, Lisa, and their three children. But friends said he seemed to be deriving some pleasure of what he described as his new "adventure."

Purvis recalled Foster telling him about his feeling on leaving the White House at the end of a typical 12-hour day. "He said he'd be worn out and he'd look back and here's the White House at night lighted up," Purvis recalled. "And it would hit him where he was and what he was doing and just how incredible the whole thing was and how lucky he was."

But Purvis, in the April interview with the Democrat-Gazette, had what now seems an eerie warning about his friend. Foster, he said, was "working himself to death."

GROSS DESCRIPTION.

PLEURA, PERITONEUM
& PERICARDIUM:

Intact, smooth and glistening.

HEART:

350 gm. No valvular or congenital abnormalities. Epi and endocardium, thin and transparent. Coronary arteries, normal origin and distribution; right coronary artery predominant; no significant alteration all segments. Right ventricle 3 mm.; left 13 mm. The myocardium is intact and grossly free of any signs of fibrosis, inflammation or infarction. Aorta, minimal arteriosclerosis.

LUNGS:

Right 870 gm.; left 840 gm. Larynx, trachea and bronchi, intact and free of trauma, obstruction or inflammation. Both lungs are intact and on section there is extensive congestion as well as aspiration of blood. No evidence of inflammation or pulmonary artery emboli. Hemidiaphragms intact.

LIVER:

1640 gm. Capsule is intact and smooth and the free edges are sharp. On section there is no evidence of trauma, fibrosis or nodularity.

GALLBLADDER:

No significant alteration.

SPLEEN:

130 gm. Capsule intact.

PANCREAS, ADRENAL & THYROID GLANDS:

No significant alteration.

G.I. TRACT:

Stomach contains a considerable amount of digested food material whose components cannot be identified. No evidence of hemorrhage or inflammation.

KIDNEYS:

140 gm. each. The capsules strip with ease to reveal an intact pale smooth surface. No trauma or inflammation.

URINARY BLADDER:

Wall intact; urine clear.

GENITALIA:

No significant alteration.

BRAIN:

1420 gm. Perforating gunshot wound mouth-head; entrance wound is in the posterior oropharynx at a point approximately 7 1/4" from the top of the head; there is also a defect in the tissues of the soft palate and some of these fragments contain probable powder debris. The wound track in the head continues backward and upward with an entrance wound just left of the foramen magnum with tissue damage to the brain stem and left cerebral hemisphere with an irregular exit scalp and skull defect near the midline in the occipital region. No metallic fragments recovered.

MICROSCOPICS:

Section of lung reveals alveolar filling by red blood cells; in the liver 3 to 4% of liver cells contain fat vacuoles. Sections of soft-palate positive for powder debris.

The following message was found to be written on a note found in VINCENT FOSTER'S briefcase on July 26, 1993:

I made mistakes from ignorance, inexperience and overwork

I did not knowingly violate any law or standard of conduct

No one in the White House, to my knowledge, violated any law or standard of conduct, including any action in the travel office. - There was no intent to benefit any individual or specific group

The FBI lied in their report to the AG

The press is covering up the illegal benefits they received from the travel staff

The GOP has lied and misrepresented its knowledge and role and covered up a prior investigation

The Ushers Office plotted to have excessive costs incurred, taking advantage of Kaki and HRC

The public will never believe the innocence of the Clintons and their loyal staff

The WSJ editors lie without consequence

I was not meant for the job or the spotlight of public life in Washington. Here ruining people is considered sport.

DOCUMENT EXAMINATION RESULTS

STATEMENT OF EXAMINER: The examination consisted of studying the Standard Writings [Known] and locating writing characteristics that appear throughout the written words and letter characters which are unique to the writer. Then, the Signature Document [Questioned] were studied to locate those characteristics that are unique to a particular writer in the way alphabetical characters, groups of alphabetical characters, numerical digits and written words are completed. The Questioned and Known documents are listed as:

Questioned Document:

1. Handwritten "note" with writing appearing on a yellow, lined paper which had been mutilated by tearing into several pieces. The note had been re-constructed by investigators of the United States Park Police. The note was written with a black in color ink.

Known Documents:

1. Vincent W. Foster

- a. A photostatic copy of a letter bearing the signature of the person that is the subject of the investigation. The signature is completed as "Vincent W. Foster".
- b. The photostatic copy represents a letter that was completed on a standard sheet of stationery without lines.

EXAMINER'S CONCLUSIONS

The conclusion as related to the Questioned and Known writings are:

1. The Known Document is a photostatic copy of a handwritten letter that is of excellent quality. The copied writing appears without reproduction flaws that would cause this examiner to question the characteristics as they relate to the author. The author's signature appears on the bottom of the document and is represented as "Vincent W. Foster"
2. Even though the Questioned Document has been re-constructed, the writing contains sufficient characteristics of the author to allow identification.
3. Both the Known and Questioned Documents were completed by the same writer/author and that writer/author is known as Vincent W. Foster.

The characteristics used to reach the final conclusion of the examiner were not marked on either the known or questioned document. After the examination, which was conducted at the Identification Division Office of the United States Park Police, the documents were released to Officer P. J. Simonello.

WHITE HOUSE

I made mistakes from ignorance, inexperience and overwork.

I did not knowingly violate any law or standard of conduct.

No one in the White House, to my knowledge, violated any law or standard of conduct, including any action in the travel office. There was no intent to benefit any individual or specific group.

The FBI lied in their report to the AG.

The press is covering up the illegal benefits they received from the travel staff.

The GOR has lied and misrepresented its knowledge and role and covered up a prior investigation.

The Urban Office plotted to have excessive costs incurred, taking advantage of Kate and me.

The public will never believe the innocence of the Clintons and their loyal staff.

The WSJ editors lie without consequence.

I was not meant for the job or the spotlight of public life in Washington. Here ruining people is considered sport.

PREV CASE STATUS:

NARRATIVE: Background: Communications Center received a phone call from an anonymous male indicating he had information with regard to an event of national importance.

Investigation: Writer received a transfer telephone call from the CPD Comm. Center operator [REDACTED] [REDACTED] informed me she had male on the phone who was refusing to identify himself, but indicated that he had information with regard to the "murder of Vince Foster in Washington, D.C.". At the point the call was transferred to writer. I then spoke with an unidentified male who stated the following: That the Whitewater case, which was being investigated in Washington and an individual involved in this, identified as Vince Foster, who had reportedly committed suicide was not, in fact, a suicide but a murder victim. He indicated that there was a van involved, no color given, with the first three numbers of the tag being "227". He stated there might also be a car involved, but was unable to furnish information with regard to that.

The individual was unable to furnish any other information with regard to this matter, stating that he was not able to give me any more information. In listening to this individual, he sounded to be a white male, in approximately the mid-20 age group, no discernable accent was noted, although the individual's voice was quivering with either excitement and/or fear. He was either unable or unwilling to discuss further the manner in which he obtained this information, whether it was firsthand, or whether he had heard this from others. He refused to identify himself, he refused to give a contact number. When questioned by writer, in the event that I needed to speak with him to obtain further information, how could he be contacted. He stated "this will be the last time you will hear from me", and at that point terminated the communications link by hanging the phone up.

During the conversation, there was no discernable noise being to be overheard by writer. In checking with the Communications Center it was noted that the call came over a regular trunk line, more than likely 462-6262, which is the main number to the Clearwater Police Dept. and in the event that number is busy, it merely rotates to another number and only the 911 Emergency calls are identifiable on the screen, so there was no printout as to location or address of this call.

Writer then contacted the local office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and passed this information along to Special Agent [REDACTED] A copy of the taped conversation between Communications Operator [REDACTED] and the individual was recorded and furnished for the FBI.

Writer has no further involvement with this matter.

On March 18, 1994, [REDACTED] furnished the following information to Special Agent (SA) [REDACTED]

Source advised that [REDACTED] Source then changed the subject to the whitewater investigation and VINCENT FOSTER'S death.

Source stated [REDACTED] (ph) of the UNITED STATES PARK POLICE (USPP) now admits to a guy calling the USPP about finding a body at Fort Marcy Park in Virginia. Source stated this confirms what it has been stating all along, that [REDACTED] was lying to the public about the FOSTER investigation.

Source stated it learned FOSTER had an apartment in Rosslyn, Virginia, that he leased. Source claims FOSTER was shot with an "assassin's .22," which left a four inch exit wound in FOSTER's body. Source theorized FOSTER could have been shot in this leased apartment in Rosslyn and driven to Fort Marcy Park.

Source stated JERRY PARKS (ph) was Governor BILL CLINTON's Director of Security in Arkansas. Source noted PARKS was murdered in September, 1993, being shot nine times. This investigation, according to the source, is still unsolved. Source believes (FNU) MCDOUGAL (ph), a former business partner with the CLINTON's is the link between PARKS and FOSTER.

Source could provide no proof to his conspiratorial theory and would not identify his sources of information.

(NOTE: Information provided by the source has been inconsistent or such that it is unable to be verified. Source has provided conflicting information and when challenged, moves on to another subject matter. It is the writer's opinion that the information furnished by the source is not credible, and no further action will be initiated at this time.)

WHITEWATER HEARINGS

ReBucal to Washington Metropolitan Field Office (WMFO)
7/12/94.

This is to confirm in writing that the Civil Discovery Review Unit (CDRU), Office of the General Counsel (OGC), FBIHQ, requested the original 175 file involving Vincent W. Foster, Jr., (175-WF-187743), to include all sections, via above-reference telephone call.

For the information of WMFO, the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs is planning to hold hearings on various aspects of the Whitewater affair. In order to assist the Committee in preparing for these hearings, CDRU has been requested to produce all FBI records that relate in any manner to the way in which White House officials handled documents in the office of Vincent Foster at the time of his death. CDRU has determined that the above-listed file is responsive to this request.

Any questions regarding this matter should be directed to Paralegal Specialist [REDACTED] CDRU, OGC, on extension 3990.

WHITEWATER HEARINGS

ReBuairtel to Washington Metropolitan Field Office (WMFO), dated 8/8/94.

For the information of WMFO, the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs held hearings on various aspects of the Whitewater affair. The Civil Discovery Review Unit (CDRU), Office of the General Counsel, was requested to produce all FBI records that related in any manner to the way in which White House officials handled documents in the office of Vincent Foster at the time of his death.

Per above reference airtel, CDRU requested from WMFO, the original 175 file involving Vincent Foster, to include all sections.

WF 175B-WF-187743, Volume 1 and Sub C, were received by CDRU on 7/12/94. These files were reviewed by CDRU for responsive material. Serials 1 through 4, 6, 7, 9, 10, 12, 15, 19, 21, 46, and 55 of WF 175B-WF-187743, Volume 1, were found to be responsive and were produced. A Document Review Information Form, which indicates the serials that have been released, has been placed in the file as the top serial. The original files are now being returned to WMFO.

Memorandum

To : SAC, WMFO

Date 12/23/94

From : SA [REDACTED] (C-4)

Subject: UNSUB;
VINCENT W. FOSTER, JR. - VICTIM;
PPSAKA (B);
OO:WMFO (175B-WF-187743)

On July 20, 1993, VINCENT W. FOSTER, JR., Deputy White House Counsel, was found dead in Fort Marcy Park, Fairfax County, Virginia. WMFO entered the investigation on July 21, 1993, with the specific directions that this was a U.S. PARK POLICE investigation and the FBI was to assist the U.S. PARK POLICE. On July 23, 1993, it was decided that the FBI investigation would cease and the U.S. PARK POLICE would finish the investigation.

b7A

The entire matter was then re-investigated by Independent Counsel ROBERT FISKE, JR., in order to resolve key issues such as 1) was the PARK POLICE correct that FOSTER committed suicide, or was he murdered?; 2) if the death was a suicide, did it occur in Fort Marcy Park or had the body been moved? (Report of the Independent Counsel, dated June 30, 1994).

A specific problem in this investigation was that the FBI was not notified of FOSTER's death as soon as it was discovered that he was a Presidential Staff member. This investigation was seen by the DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE as a U.S. PARK POLICE matter. It was not recognized that it fell within the Presidential and Presidential Staff Assassination Statute, Title 18, USC, Section 1751, which designates the FBI as the investigating agency.

WMFO 175B-WF-187743

It is not practical in cases like this to have the FBI "assist" the lead agency. If the FBI is going to be involved in an investigation where a Title 18 violation (that the FBI is responsible for) is involved, it should be decided that the FBI will control the direction and the scope of the investigation and be the lead agency.

7/22/93

Vincent Foster - Vietnam [redacted]

Officer White (Hume) arrived gym 9am

Tues 7/20/93 I left around 6:45 pm believe Foster may have already been in senior staff meeting when I came in but not sure. He leaves his off. door open in evening.

My usual contacts w/ Mr Foster is around lunchtime.

On Tues ^(12-12:30) - he came out & asked me about what was for lunch - he said something about wanting burger & fries, coke - I ordered it and I went down w/ [redacted] to pick it up from mess. When I came back he was in outer office - I handed him tray - he went in his off. was eating lunch. [redacted] went in & talked to him a few minutes [redacted] - works in [redacted] off.)

About 1 P.M. he came out - had his jacket said said I'll be back - he said there M + A's left in his off. - (last time I saw him)

Extroverted state - he's quiet, private most all the x. I noticed nothing different.

On Mon 7/19/93 we joked about catfish lunch. He never discussed his personal life w/ me.

I wd. take his calls (Foster) - I might ask who's calling & tell Vince who calling & tell him. I don't recall any visit on that day.

No unusual calls that day. - about 6:30 P.M.

[redacted] called for Vince - asked me to page him - I did - I went home. I had WH Operator to page him to [redacted]

I found out Wed 5-6 am. about Vince's death.
Wag on my ans. machine at home. I came in Wed.
7 am to work. b7C

I went in to Mr. Foster's office to [redacted] about 7 am I told security guard - The office was locked when I got there.

I saw some documents I started to straighten up a bit but then realized I shd leave it alone. I then left off.
First person out was. looks up and turns out lights
call control etc., close Vince + [redacted] outside door
No idea about medication Foster might be taking.
No knowledge of any doctor contact. he might be seeing.

When V.F. left the office [redacted] another - not sure about Tom.
no knowledge of Wilson ownership. [redacted]
no knowledge of any depression. (see page 21/22)

I met w/ [redacted] [redacted] and [redacted] last evening who told me I'd be interviewed and would be asked routine questions and to answer truthfully.

I remember seeing Vince in Rose Garden ceremony that was on
